Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 25 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells developing after a cloudy and misty start.

Today:
Starting rather cloudy with some mist and fog patches, especially across the hills. Low cloud and mist may persist around some coasts, but with sunny spells developing elsewhere. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Coastal cloud and mist will spread inland this evening and overnight. Some patchy drizzle developing here and there, and with fog patches forming across the hills. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Thursday:
After a cloudy and misty start, it will brighten up from the northeast during the morning with some sunny spells developing. Feeling cooler than of late, especially near the coast. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Mostly dry into and through the weekend with some bright or sunny spells, but with the risk of a few light showers. Breezy and feeling rather cool in coastal areas.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.